Fund performance

The Fund delivered a strong return in October. The global dividend equity exposure was the primary driver of performance. Top performing holdings over the period included US retailer Home Depot (+13%) and consulting firm Accenture (+13%). Accenture delivered strong quarterly results, raised the dividend 10% and provided upbeat 2022 guidance, expecting revenue growth of 12-15% y/y. The Fund’s property holdings (REITs) delivered a positive contribution to return while the bond holdings were a marginal drag given the backdrop of rising yields globally. The downside risk management strategy (index put options) was a negative contributor to return given the strong gains posted by global equity markets.

Market commentary

Global equity markets rebounded in October with the MSCI World ending the month 5.8% higher in Euro terms. Stocks benefitted from a solid earnings season, with 80% of S&P 500 companies which have reported so far beating EPS expectations. From a style perspective, Quality and Growth outperformed Value over the month. It was a volatile month for global bond markets. While longer dated bond yields increased by c.0.1% in both Europe and the US, the most significant moves were in shorter dated government bonds. Over the month, the market moved from pricing in just one interest rate hike by the Fed in 2022 to pricing in more than two hikes. This more aggressive pricing came on the back of the continuation in elevated inflation readings and hawkish commentary from central banks, most notably the Bank of England and the Fed. While US CPI was unchanged during the month at 5.4%, energy prices continued to rise. The European energy market experienced some of the most drastic moves with gas prices rising by 60% in a week.
